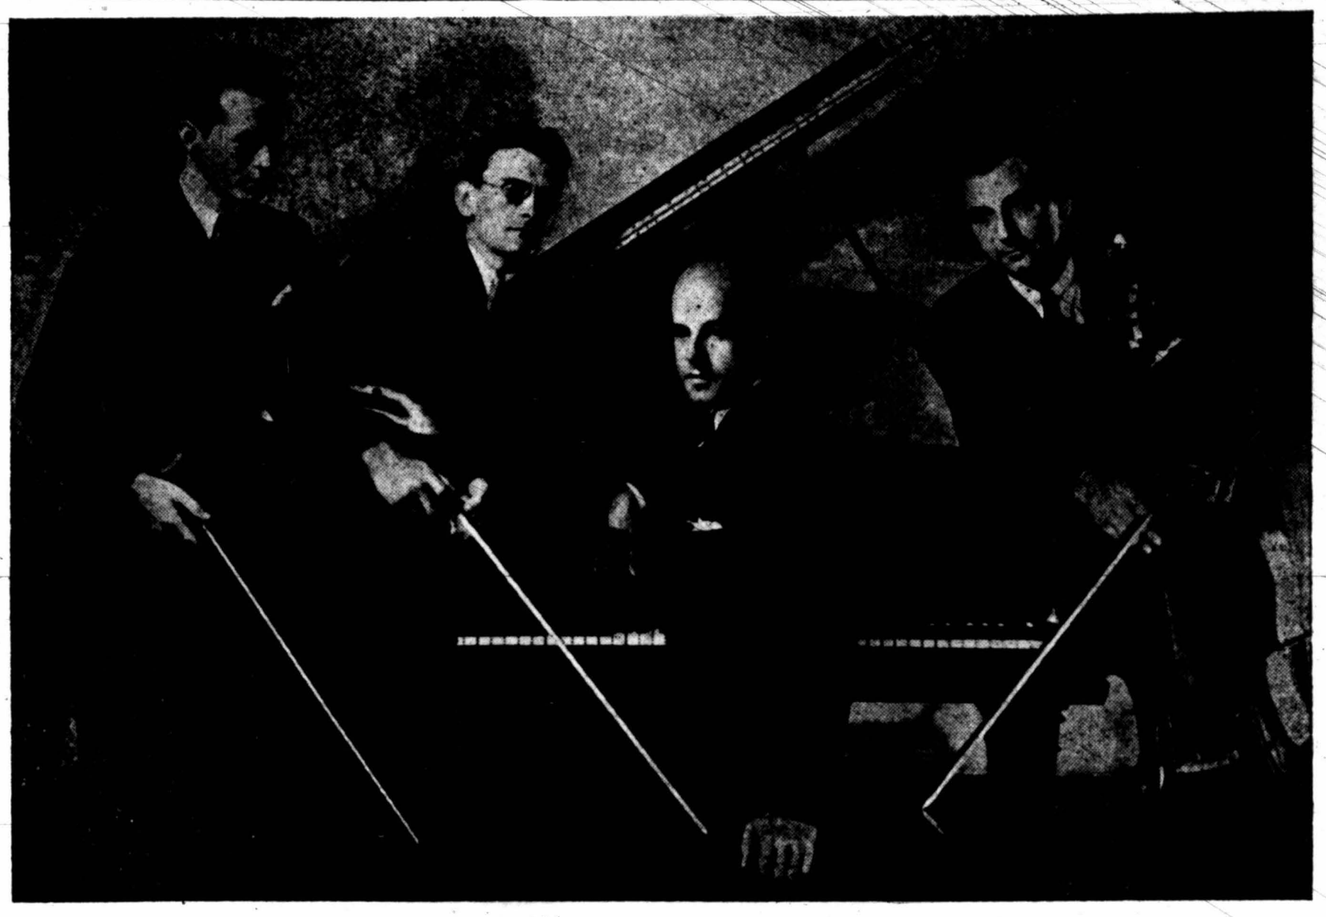
New Hospital Delayed When Directors are Refused Funds

The proposed enlargement of the Velie Metabolic Clinic into a general hospital with open staff serving the entire peninsula has received further delay in the dead lock between the present board of trustees and E. Chapel Judson, treasurer of the $14,000 raised in a recent drive for the enlargement fund.

A formal request that the money be turned over to them on or before July 2nd was made by trustees W. W. Powell, of Los Angeles, who is trustee of the estate of Mrs. Grace Deere Velie Harris, builder of the present clinic, Byington Ford of Pebble Beach, Mrs. Olga Fish, of Carmel Valley, B. A. Lee, of Pacific Grove, John Thomsen, of Monterey, A. W. Wheldon and John E. Abernethy, of Carmel. Treasurer Judson replied that he could not see his way clear to do so because certain promises made to the donors during the drive had not been complied with, and he felt that he would be liable for any or all of the money if he released it now.

Some of the donors feel that the present board is "hand picked" by Powell and is not representative of this region, and insist that the original four nominees consisting of Henry Dickinson, Joseph Schoeninger, F. P. Howard and J. E. Abernethy, were their choice, only one of whom is now upon the board.

Judson is interested solely in equitable settlement of the controversy, and after his suggestion that the above mentioned four be appointed, he said further that a friendly suit might be brought to determine his status and allow work to go ahead upon the proposed surgical, maternity and emergency rooms to be added to the present $400,000 clinic.



Penha Piano Quartet In Second Summer Series

On next Tuesday evening in the Sunset School Auditorium, the Penha Piano Quartet, presented by the Carmel Music Society, will give its first concert in Carmel since last August. Those who heard the open rehearsal last Tuesday evening know what beauty of program and of playing to expect. Messrs. Linsley, Norman, Weiss and Penha will play the following program:

Loellet—Quartet for piano, violin, and cello.

Beethoven—Trio for violin, viola and cello.

Saint-Saens—Quartet for piano, violin, viola and cello.

Very often the question is asked, "What is a piano quartet? Are there four pianos?"—The piano quartet is so-called because of the use of the piano—one piano only with the strings-violin, viola and cello. Chamber music with piano has much more variety and color than chamber music written for strings alone. This will be especially noticeable in next Tuesday's concert in the Saint-Saens Quartet, with its brilliant, cascading piano part,—superbly handled by Ralph Linsley.

Michel Penha, for five years solo cellist with the Philadelphia Orchestra, and at all times a chamber music player, has a Quartet which is of as much musical importance to the west coast as famed ensembles of the East and from abroad are to their environs. Certainly it is of tremendous importance to Carmel, where it is summering, and holding rehearsals open to its season ticket-holders. And if there are those who do not know that chamber music can be as thrilling and as exciting as a solo concert, let them come and see for themselves next Tuesday evening in the Sunset School Auditorium.

Ordinance Is Killed At Council Meeting

The proposed amendment to the new business license ordinance which received its first reading several weeks ago did not pass at last night's council meeting when it was brought up for its final reading. A petition signed by eighty merchants was presented to the council asking that the business license ordinance be left as it was and that the amendment calling for a twenty-five dollar initial fee be dropped. After discussion from both sides led by Hallie Samson who presented the petition and Mrs. Howard Jackson who spoke for the amendment, Councilman Catlin proposed that the ordinance be given its second reading. As no one would second this motion the ordinance died.

The matter of the library rates was postponed until the next regular meeting of the council, at which time it will be taken under full advisement. Paul Prince was asked by the Mayor to read the Library statement that had been prepared for the council and was published in last week's Pine Cone. Following this questions were asked concerning these figures chiefly about the circulation and the possible room for ineligibles on the lists. Mr. Prince answered that this was possible but to check up on all cards would be a long and costly job. The matter was postponed until the next regular meeting at which time it is likely that the council will act but not without being fully informed concerning the situation.

An ordinance amending ordinance 59 passed at a June meeting in 1925 regarding the trimming and cutting of trees upon public property was given its first reading and received favorable action from the council. This amendment gives the city the right to trim or remove any trees, plants or shrubs that have died or are diseased. The cost of such work to be borne by property owners.

Another ordinance prohibiting horseback riding on the beach South of AOcean Avenue was contemplated and will probably be passed in the near future. It is felt that there is a need for such an ordinance as there have been several near accidents on the beach.

Henry Laurette addressed the council stating that Carmel's dog tax and its collection was not being handled properly. He said that his dog was the only one in his neighborhood to sport the metal bell-shaped token and that he did not see why he should be paying when others were not. He was seconded by several people who felt the same way.

As the council chambers were crowded chairs were at a premium, Stephen Allen Reynolds, long famous for his eccentricity at council meetings arrived with a chair he purchased for the evening at a nearby candy store.

Mrs. Anne Hawkns and son Alvin are spending a short vacation visiting friends in Carmel. They are from San Francisco.

MANY ATTEND FOREST THEATRE CELEBRATION

The Directors of the Forest Theater were hosts and hostesses at the afternoon of band music and refreshments last Sunday celebrating the twenty-fifth summer season of dramatics on the outdoor stage.

Rachel R. Hiller, president of the board, spoke briefly to the more than two hundred guests about the aims and ambitions of the theater, and especially about the prime mover, Herbert Heron, who selected the site in 1910 and has long been its sponsor. Heron then spoke, touching on the history of the spot and the truly communal character of the organizaton that has used more than 3000 persons in various capacities in its 88 productions, 35 of which were productions by Carmelites either in original scripts or by collaboration.

The 11th Cavalry Band, under direction of Warrant Officer W. E. Vincent, rendered nine selections which included Fest, by Leutner, selections from Mlle. Modiste, by Herbert, Don Quixote, by Safrank, Atlantic Zehpyrsfi by Simons, and selections from The Student Prince, by Romburg.

It was an old-time Forest Theater afternoon, even to the stray dog and drifting fog, and the spectators brought encore after encore from the thirty-piece band in appreciation of their playing.

JAMES FITZGERALD TO TEACH PAINTING

James Ftzgerald, painter, best known for his vigorous watercolors of the sea, has opened classes in watercolor, oil and charcoal drawing for beginners and advanced pupils, the classes to be held in his Monte Regio studio and out-of--doors, along the coast and up the Carmel Valley.

He has painted the sea here for the past four years and declares that he will never again brave the rigorous zero weather of the East Coast where he worked for many winters.

Fitzgerald is perhaps better known in the east, has a background of study that included the Boston Museum School and the Massachusetts School of Art. He is a member of the Carmel Art Association and has exhibited those lively watercolors of sea and land at Tilly Polaks for the last three years.

FORD TO HEAD SPORTS CARNIVAL NEXT MARCH

Byington Ford, Carmel realtor, will be manager of the projected Monterey Peninsula International Sports Association and its March gala event to celebrate opening of the Coast Highway.

His appointment was recommended by a committee headed by Don Staniford, and will carry a salary of $200 a month plus expenses. Ford is eminently qualified for executive work, besides being an active sportsman and having a broad background of peninsula activities.

On the board of directors are Carmelities, Staniford and Mayor James Thoburn, and the honorary committee of 150 includes many outstanding local names. Already there has been much progress made toward a definite plan for the affair, and sub-committee heads are picking their workers to carry through the innumerable details.

BRITISH CRUISER TO ARRIVE ON JULY 20th

Once more Monterey will be host to a visiting British warship, this time the cruiser H.M.S.Norfolk which will arrive July 20th for a week's stay.

A large representation of peninsula citizens will be committees to entertain them with sports and other diversions so abundantly offered by this region. The British send one vessel every two years to the west coast, and officers and men alike look forward to Monterey as one of the pleasantest stops on their voyage.

It is to be remembered how agreeable home life is to sailors far from home, and the peninsula is urged once more to throw open its doors and take these guests in for a taste of Spanish-California hospitality.

HEAT WAVES MAKE NEW THERMOMETER RECORDS

The Carmel heat wave of last week sent local mercury flying to a new high for the season—for many a season. The downtown thermometer near the post office went up to 123 and then boiled so hard that accurate reading was impossible. In the 80 acres another sun-struck meter hit 134 and then was removed from the patio and given a rest in the cool of the basement, where it descended to a sultry 86.

Water steamed out of the drinking fountains, and ice melted at ten degress above freezing. The old fight broke out as to whether coolness of person could be had by stripping to no clothes and enduring the direct rays of the sun, or by putting on two overcoats and keeping all the heat out, and now that the Carnegie Laboratory is closed no scientists could be called in to settle the rumpus.

But Carmel knows how. After one day the heat raced inland and left us our natural, sea-cooled, wind-refreshed selves.

THREE PIONEERS RECOVER FROM SERIOUS ILLNESSES

Veteran Carmelites are very much pleased to learn that those three pioneers, Frank Devendorf, Delos Curtis and Perry Newberry, who have been seriously ill, are now well once more.

Devendorf, one of Carmel's founders, has been in bed from a heart attack, while Delos Curtis, of ice cream and candy fame, has weathered a severe case of pneumonia, and Newberry, journalist, builder and dramatist, has recovered from influenza.

Col. and Mrs. Charles Guest Lawrence entertained informally at an impromptu tea in their home on Casanova last Sunday. Among those who called at the Lawrence home were: Col. and Mrs. Theodore Taylor, Col. and Mrs. C. E. Hathaway, Mrs. George Wright, Mrs. C. E. Hathaway Sr., Mrs. Elward J. Peckham, Miss Mary Wright, Miss Dorothy Swan and Mrs. Robert Lawrence Love of Berkeley who is Col. Lawrence's sister.

SINGERS WANTED FOR SERRA CELEBRATION

The Serra Festival committee wants persons with voices to attend rehearsals for training in songs to be used in the August 24 to 27th celebration at the Mission, as an important part of the pageant to be produced there by George Marion.

Arthur Gunderson is in charge of this phase of the Fiesta, and asks that persons interested get in touch with him by phoning Carmel 207-M, or seeing Don Staniford at his drug store on Ocean avenue. Rehearsals at present are being held at the home of V. C. Williams 41 Asilomar street, in Pacific Grove, and later will take place in the Serra Crespi Hall at the Carmel Mission.

LOWER LICENSE FEE IS OFFERED BY AMENDMENT

On June 29th the city council met in adjourned regular meeting to consider the amendment to Section 13 of the new business ordinance adopted April 12th and put in force July 1st. The amendment dealt with reduction of the $100 fee to be required of firms in business less than one year, such fee later to be adjusted on the basis of their gross income over twelve months.

So much controversy over this phase of the new ordinance has resulted that attempt was made to adjust the problem, but obstacles were found on everyhand.Finally the Business Association recommended in a letter to the council that $25 be the fee required.

"Amendment to Section 13 to read in part as follows: . . . if at the time of filing the application for license under this section no sales have been made by the applicant or the business for which such application for license is made through the preceding 12 months, such person, firm or corporation shall be required to deposit the sum of $25 to ensure the payment of the correct amonut of the license fee . . ."

The main idea is to prevent fly-by-night business coming to Carmel for just the summer months, and by basing the business fee on a year's gross receipts it is necessary that some basis of fee for new-concerns be set. The $100 being thought a hardship on many of the 15 concerns begun since a year ago, the lower sum was suggested. First reading of the amendment was given a majority vote, Councilman Norton not voting, and its final fate was set for the first regular July meeting.

Barring horses from the entire beach during crowded summer months was approved, and consideration of tree-trimming on the sand dunes and waterfront roads was taken up.

RED CROSS AWAITS NEWS ON COUNTY RELIEF PLANS

The Carmel Red Cross chapter is anxiously awaiting news as to what County relief may be expected for Carmel's unemployed in the near future. If anything is to be made available it will likely require to be through a work project for the benefit of the many and not for the few.

It is hoped that the Council will favor the most feasible of the projects without blocading protests from the minority who may not derive any direct benefit therefrom.

POST OFFICE TO ISSUE NEW PARK STAMPS SOON

During July the postal department promises a new issue of stamps of particular interest to the west, the subject being National Parks.

Yosemite will be on the widely used one-cent issue, while others will be Grand Canyon, Arizona, two-cent; Rainier, Washington, three-cent; Mesa Verde, Colorado, four-cent; Yellowstone, Wyoming, five-cent; Zion, Utah, six-cent; Acadia, Maine, seven-cent; Sequoia, California, eight-cent; Glacier, Montana, nine-cent; and Smoky Mountain, North Carolina and Tennessee, ten-cent.

QUILT EXHIBITION IS A BIG SUCCESS

A quilt exhibition at the home of Mrs. Adam Darrling for the benefit of the guild of the All Saints Church was a huge success socially and financially. The event took place Monday afternoon when tea was served, and a goodly sum added to the Giuld's coffers. Miss Celia Seymour entertained with two delightful readings during the afternoon.

The affair was also somewhat in the nature of a farewell to Reverend and Mrs. A. B. Chinn, who left Tuesday for their vacation.

Next Monday a party will be held at the Parish House at 2:30 when in addition to tea being served, Mrs. J. W. Dickinson will review the book "Snobs" by N. A. Dormie. There will be a silver offering, and visitors will be more than welcome.

After resting at the Tassajara Springs for several weeks, Dr. and Mrs. John MacWillie returned to their home here early this week.

The . . . Gold Fish Bowl
by Dorothy Brooke

Lazy afternoon sipping cool drinks in Mrs. Jack Orcutt's heavenly patio. Its almost too good to be true. Banana trees, gay geraniums, lobelias round the pool. Lovely glint of darting gold-fish in the water.

Alicia, aged six, had just been bitten fairly badly by the black Chow. Said Alicia to me, looking rather forlorn in her rose colored flannel dressing gown. "It's worth getting bitten, because now I'm going to get a Scottie."

—o—

Magic evening watching the rehearsal of "Going Some" at the Forest Theater. Mr. Don Lee is a dynamic director, yet withal, patient.

Where did he find such a glamorous cast? Tall golden young men and slim pretty girls.

The cowboys from Carmel Valley sat round the fire, and under the star-lit sky, with the yellow moon hung low, they sang with heart-breaking pathos and gaiety.

Good Shot. Mr. Tom Mathews RE rehearsing scene with Rosamand Marble. (no word spoken). Of course she IS lovely.

—o—

Mr. Aldous Huxley appreciates cats. We ought to call his attention to Julian, owned by Moira Wallace. Black he is, and not of royal blood. He never seemed to value his home particularly, and went about in a nonchalant and sniffy fashion. Mrs. Wallace gave him away, and oh Julian was taken to Pebble Beach. He was most unresponsive and spent the first few nights on the roof. Suddenly he disappeared completely, to the frantic consternation of his new owner, who moved about in an agony of despair less Moira should discover that Julian had vanished.

Moira did—for Julian calmly and doggedly hitch-hiked it back to Carmel, and simply walked into the house, with a blase air. However, he seems to be a changed cat, and actually displays a few gestures of feline emotion, and in a rather smug manner makes it quite clear that he refuses to be sent out for adoption.

—o—

Then to Counsellor-at-Law in rehearsal. We found Mr. Frank Work a most unconvincing villian, as to his cherubic expression. But they do say that these days villians are from a new pattern. All guileless looking and far more dangerous.

—o—

If you have not already done so, do read the Journal of Arnold Bennett. It's superb, a masterpiece. Among other famous celebrities Mr. Bennet seemed to have enjoyed being with Paul Dougherty whom he mentions several times.

—o—

Fun to lie in the sun and eat luscious ripe figs a little greedily. Fun to dash into the Post Office and find no bills in one's box. Fun to work, and to watch Winsor Josselyn always being polite no matter how rushed he happens to be.

—o—

Saturday night at Del Monte, that new orchestra is heavenly. The grill was a kaleidescope of color. These wide-checked coats for the males seem to be quite the vogue, and very devastating they are too. Miss Tessie Lockridge made a charming picture as she chatted in the doorway before leaving.

Later to Hermanns' and after bacon and eggs we saw the sun rise. And so to bed.

TREATMENT OF VENOMOUS BITES GIVEN BY EXPERT

State medical authorties are warning against improper treatment for successful combat of venomous bites during summer months when reptiles, spiders and the like are most active.

Mental calm, physical coolness, no alcoholic drink nor other home remedies are first requistites. Not only snake, but spider, scorpion, centipede, tarantula, gila monster and cat and dog bites are to be treated as venomous.

Bleeding at the bite, a fiery pain, rapid swelling, nausea, a rapid pulse sometimes twice normal followed by a very low blood pressure, and discoloration are symptoms of venomous bites according to C. G. Wheeler, SERA official, and rules to be followed are outlined below.

"Don't get excited. Don't run or get overheated. Don't use alcoholic liquor. Don't use potassium permanganate. Don't use other home cures. Don't burn with acids or gunpowder. Go to someone experienced in first aid or to the nearest doctor at a walking pace so as not to speed the heart unduly."

Use of a tourniquet above the knee or elbow when the bite is below these levels is advised. A tourniquet should be made tight enough to cause the flesh to appear blue, but not white, and must be released every 15 or 20 minutes for one minute to prevent gangrene.

DOCK STRIKER ADDRESSES CARMEL JOHN REED CLUB

The John Reed Club was addressed Sunday evening at the Green Room of the Community Theatre by Lloyd Stroud, of the Marine Workers' Industrial Union, of San Francisco. He represented one element of the waterfront strikers during the present disturbed conditions in the bay city, and after being introduced by Martin Flavin, noted playwright who lives at Carmel Highlands, he told the nearly two hundred listeners his side of the strike.

He said that what the strikers wanted was equal sharing of work, union control of the hiring halls, or employment centers, and arbitration as to hours and wages.

NON-JURIED SHOW DRAWS MANY TO CARMEL GALLERY

The non-juried exhibit in the Carmel Art Association gallery on North Dolores street is attracting many summer visitors with its showing of forty-eight pieces by thirty-three member artists. The guest book carries names from widely separated parts of the world, and reminds one again of the international crossroads quality of this village of Carmel.

Visiting hours are from two until five afternoons, and mornings by appointment, and any details regarding the gallery will gladly be furnished by Mrs. Nellie Montague, resident curator.

TODD PLANS SPEAKING TOUR

SAN FRANCISCO, July 5.—Harry L. Todd, former Postmaster of San Francisco, announced today that he plans immediately a speaking and organization tour of the counties comprising the first district of the State Board of Equalization, for which he is a candidate on the Republican ticket at the primaries, August 28.

With a volunteer organization set up in San Francisco, Todd expects to devote a major portion of his time to San Mateo, Santa Clara San Benito, Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Luis Obispo counties.

John L. McNab, distinguished Californian, will be general chairman of the Todd committee, with chairmen to be selected for each of the counties of the district.

In announcing his candidacy Todd said:

"At the request of many citizens within the first district of the State Board of Equalization I have filed my candidacy for the Republican nomination for this district.

"I am filing only for the Republican nomination, as that is my party and it is the spirit and purpose of the direct primary law, as I take it, that the primary election should result in a selection of party nominees to contest the final decision at the general election."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, July 8, on the subject "Sacrament."

The Golden Text will be: "The bread of God is he which cometh down from heaven, and giveth life unto the world" (John 6: 33). Bible selections will include the following passage from Luke 22: 15-18, "And he said unto them, With desire I have desired to eat this passover with you before I suffer: For I say unto you, I will not any more eat therefore until it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God. And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and said, Take this, and divide it among yourselves: For I say unto you, I will not drink of the fruit of the vine, until the kingdom of God shall come."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included which reads as follows: "The disciples had eaten, yet Jesus prayed and gave them bread. This would have been foolish in a literal sense; but in its spiritual signification, it was natural and beautiful. Jesus prayed; he withdrew from the material senses to refresh his heart with brighter, with spiritual views" (p. 32).

An enjoyable week end was spent recently at the cabin belonging to the Robert Leidig's of Carmel, located at Culps. Those present were: Misses Jean Leidig, Sue Brownell, Joan and Beverly Tait, and Eleanor Watson.

Johnson Launches Campaign for Office Of State Treasurer

Pledging himself to a program of economy in keeping with present economic conditions, John Franklin Johnson this week formally launched his campaign for election as state treasurer.

"A tax of this character would be the death knell for property owners' and the only manner in which it may be staved off is by every governmental department bone. This necessity applies to the office of state treasurer as well as cutting unnecessary expenses to the other departments."

During his extended connection with the offices of state treasurer and state superintendent of banks, Mr. Johnson won a reputation for efficiency and economy in the administration of public affairs.

Jeffersonian Club Sponsors Scott

A review of his career in public office and a statement of his platform by City Attorney Russell scott of Salinas, Democratic candidate for nomination as representative of the eighth congressional district, in an address today held the favor of the Jeffersonian Club of San Jose.

His assertion of support of President Roosevelt and administration policies, and preference for collective bargaining and settlement of labor disputes by arbitration were applauded by the members.

Support of the Johnson bill to re-establish national credit, a demand for greater federal appropriations for agricultural relief in California and especially in the eighth district were enthusiastically received. as was his favorable attitude toward veteran legislation.

Scott's candidacy recently was endorsed by the Jeffersonian Club.

Fra Junipero

A letter written by Father Junipero Serra at Mission San Carlos de Monterey on the Carmelo (Carmel Mission) on August 18th, 1772, to Father Palou, Presidente of the Missions in Lower California, has been translated by Harry Downie, now residing at the Mission and doing much of the reconstruction in progress there. Its length makes necessary running the letter serially.

"Long Live Jesus, Mary and Joseph," it begins. "Rev. Lector and Presidente, Fr. Francisco Palou. Dearly beloved Friend and Sir: I do not wish to complain of the limited time I have for writing to your reverence, because I don't have to excuse myself with the old fear that I am always afraid that this which I write with great effort may never arrive in your hands.

"But I will say first that, thanks to God, I am well and that nothing has happened to me or any of my companions among the fathers in spite of the famine which has come to many poor people in this region. I want to say next that just when we were expecting the vessel, and the word had reached us that there were to be two ships which were to come to this port, we now learn that after both had reached this latitude, and though one of them was within a few leagues of this Mission, neither was able to make port.

"The captain of "El Principe (our good Don Juan Perez) writes that now he can't come, that he is in San Diego, and that we are to go there if we want any of the things which he has brought. The other, Don Miguel Pino, with Canizares, writes that he is in the channel of Santa Barbara and that he sails for San Diego, and that we will find everything there and nothing here.

"We can comfort ourselves with the thought that the two Missions of San Diego and San Gabriel will no longer be in danger. The Mission here, that of San Antonio and the garrison, are not in danger of being abandoned, but one thing is sure, and that is that our people will have to suffer some days of hardship. Our pack mules are very few and in no shape for a long trip by land.

"The principal sources of supply for our people have been the pagans. Through their kindness we are alive, because God willed it so. To be sure, the milk from the cows and the few vegetables from the garden have been two great sources of sustenance for these establishments, but both of these are daily becoming scantier. Not for that account do I feel any concern, nor should your reverence grieve that these Missions have been formed, as it is in no way a cause of grief for any one of those who have come to occupy these Missions. The discomfort is found only in the fact that the lack of workers among us makes it impossible to proceed with the founding of the new Missions."

This letter will continue next week with details of conditions in other Missions and with the requirements of church workers in these remote and scantily supplied outposts.

Against this background of Serra's life the Serra Fiesta and Pageant will move under direction of George Marion, long a Carmel resident and a deep student of Catholic history, during the dates of August 24th to 27th inclusive, with the Mission itself as part of the stage set, and wih Marion portraying the character of the tireless Serra.

SAVE 10% —Install Gas Heating this month

THE accepted mode today in house heating is to burn Natural Gas. Natural Gas is the cleanest fuel to use and requires no handling. With modern gas heating equipment Natural Gas burns silently, is controlled mechanically with no labor or care.

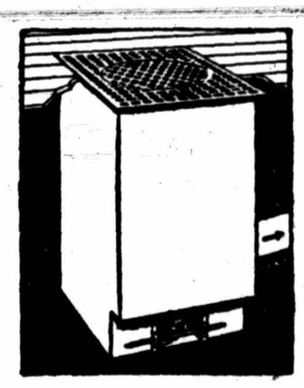
Look over the gas heating devices pictured below. Read how each serves particular heating needs and home conditions. Check them over and decide now to guard against cold weather ills caused by uneven room temperatures. To convince yourself thoroughly, ask your neighbor; he probably enjoys Natural Gas heating.

You owe it to yourself and your family to make the change now to Natural Gas heating, especially while a substantial discount on gas heating equipment is still in effect. Terms could not be more adaptable to your family budget. Let us explain without obligation how easily this permanent home improvement can be accomplished.

You can purchase any one of the gas heating devices shown here this month with a small down payment and at a discount of 10% on both the cost of the equipment and installation, exclusive of flue. Monthly payments are deferred until October 1st. Act now on this Summer Discount and save money.

The Radiantfire

For a cheerful fireplace that always stays clean, install a Radiantfire. Made in many sizes and styles. Beautiful, efficient and inexpensive to buy and operate.



Floor Furnace

Solves the heating problem for homes without a basement. Highly praised by thousands. Saves floor space and is easy and most economical to install and operate.

MRS. R. F. GILLETT PIONEER, PASSES

Mrs. Idena Florence Gillett passed away at her home in Carmel Monday evening June 25th after a long illness. For twenty years a resident of Carmel she has many friends who mourn her passing. A native of Virginia, Mrs. Gillett was 66 years old.

Surviving members of her family are her husband, Robert F. Gillett of Carmel, a daughter Mrs. Russell Hudson of Monterey and three sons, E. C. Gillett and T. R. Gillett of Crockett and A. L. Gillett of Carmel. Funeral services were held last week on Thursday and interment made at El Carmelo Cemetery in Pacific Grove.

One Paralysis Case Reported in Region

Monterey Peninsula's one case of infantile paralysis in the present statewide epidemic is that of Paul White, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. White, of Monterey, who is fighting for life in a respirator at the Monterey Hospital.

Dr. Margaret Swigart, locally in charge of the campaign against the disease, repeats previous statements concerning symptoms and precautions, and adds that swimming should be discouraged because it may wash away certain protective secretions in the nose and mouth. A sinister phase of the malady is that early symptoms such as headache, fever, stiffness of the neck, tenderness of muscles to pressure and general out-of-sorts feeling may be similar to common ailments and may not be given attention early enough.

This region is not considered an epidemic center because of its cool moist climate. But precautions must be observed, and the family physician should be consulted in any unexplained feverish condition, as early treatment is a vital aid in preventing paralysis and death.

WE HAVE NO HOSPITAL

Set-back after set-back, from one deadlock to another, has been the fortune of the proposed plans to turn the Velie Metabolic Clinic into a general Class A hospital.

When the plans were first submitted to the people in all but a few cases these plans met hearty approval. Months ago we thought we were assured of a fine institution. Today except that the mony for such improvements has been raised, we are no further ahead. Carmel's only other hospital has closed down and for several months Carmelites have had to go elsewhere for hospitalization. Carmel doctors are taking their patients where-ever they can get accommodations. So instead of leading the country with a fine hospital we are in the unfortunate position of having none.

All interested parties, the donors, the doctors, W. W. Powell representing the executors of the will of Grace Deere Velie seemed a few days ago to have reached an agreement but when a formal resolutioin from the present board of trustees, was sent to treasurer E. Chapel Judson to turn over the $14,000 raised for the hospital building and maintenance, he replied that he could not see his way clear to do this because of certain promises made to the donors during the campaign. Also he feels that he is liable for the funds and wants to be sure of his ground before he takes any steps. We fully recognize the sense of responsibility Judson has in dealing with other people's money.

The whole situation has boiled down to the choice of trustees and the changes the board made following a later meeting of the donors, gave some the feeling that this board is "hand picked" by Powell. Of the seven trustees four of them are from Carmel, one from Monterey and one from Pacific Grove, and the seventh W. W. Powell of Los Angeles. It seems that this board composed of Byington Ford, Mrs. Olga Fish, A. W. Wheldon, John E. Abernethy, B. A. Lee, John Thomsen, and W. W. Powell would be well able to run our hospital.

In the interests of the people, the doctors, and everyone we ask that the present situation be spedily cleared up so that once more we can take the lead with a first class hospital. It is vially necessary.—R. C.

WIND-WITCH

The wind is a witch
With long black hair
Who runs through the night
In the dark of the moon
The wind is a maid
In gold chiffon
Who listlessly sighs
Through the summer noon.

The wind is a bandit
Audacious and bold
Who filches the hoard
Of the autumn trees .
And the wind's a musician
Of high caprice
Famed for his vagrant
Minstrelsies.

The wind is a lover
With moods that range
From low insistence
To rollicking mirth
And the wind is a gypsy
Who knows the way
Around and over
And under the earth.

THE WOMAN IN THE WHEAT

I see the woman in the wheat
Cutting the grain she shall not eat.
The seven sons the woman bore
The king has sent to war.

The poppies in the wheat are blood
And blood the crimson sunset-flood.
The Herod-dawn a crimson hand
Has lifted over the land.

Within a shower of crimson rain
I see the woman in the grain.
The world is like a crimson sea
Between her heart and me.

A CLEAN REPUTATION

At this time Councilman J. A. Burge is strongly urging the people of Carmel to cooperate with him in keeping the streets free from unnecessary rubbish. Burge states that if merchants will be responsible for the sidewalks in front of their place of business and the people will not thoughtlessly toss rubbish into the gutters, making unnecessary work for the street department, he will further cooperate by having the streets cleaned twice each week instead of only once as in the past.

Carmel has long been noted for its cleanliness and now is our chance to further this reputation, especially during the Summer months when our population is nearly doubled.

There is also the matter of the beach and the rubbish it gathers, which the latter is entirely unnecessary as there are a number of incinerators that have been placed there for the purpose of collecting rubbish and people are strongly urged to make use of them. The beach should be clean and with a little care on the part of picnickers and bathers it can be.

BANNER YEAR FOR COMMITTEES

Never has Carmel had more committees than now. Drama, sports, social clubs, historic celebrations and so on down the list, and the only dearth is in workers to carry out, dead or alive, the findings of these committees.

Anybody who agreeably says "yes" when approached by a friend who is on this or that committee finds all too soon that responsibility camps on his doorstep and climbs on his shoulders by day and by night, and it certainly is a grand opportunity for somebody.

So committee-shy will the work-horses become, that the next social revolution is going to be one of down-with-committees in good new German style and the laborers-for-the cause will fill the chairs of the erstwhile mighty.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

MR AND MRS. CHARLES LAUGTON, of the English stage and films, have left Carmel after a four-day stay, and will return within two weeks for another short visit.

Unlike many screen stars, Mr. Laughton is averse to publicity that draws attention to him personally. Knowing this, the Carmel papers let him enjoy his privacy so that in wandering the streets, or visiting the art gallery, or in motoring he was not ogled by the curious. A heavy-shouldered, blond-haired man of full, impassive face—until he goes into acting action as in "Henry the Eighth"—he enjoyed the town incognito, and he and his wife said that they were more pleased with Carmel with each succeeding trip to it.

FREDERICK R. BECHDOLT, a Carmel pioneer and recently appointed SERA head for this region, has been having a number of his stories reprinted in the Sunday Chronicle, the latest being "In Amubsh."

Says the biographical sketch accompanying the yarn, "Bechdolt has been from boyhood a follower of western history and narrative. He was born in Mercersburgh, Pa. His family moved to Minnesota when he was a baby. He was graduated from the University of Washington in 1896.

"In 1897 he went to Alaska and went on the trail during the big Klondike rush. Returning to the States he got a job as a newspaper reporter in Seattle. For eight years he worked all through the west and in 1907 went to work for McClure's Magazine, and began selling stories to all the large magazines.

"He has written three fact books on the old West. 'When the West Was Young,' 'Talcs of the Old Timers,' and 'Giants of the Old West.' He now lives in Carmel, Calif. He is the author of 'Hell's Desert,' and 'Horse Thief Trail,' which were published serially in this newspaper."

Behdolt has been NRA head in Carmel since inception of the movement, and has been prominent in the social and dramatic life of Carmel for many years; he was a winning captain in the Abalone Ball League, and when it comes to fishing there is none who is more familiar with mountain streams for counties around.

LANGSTON HUGHES, colored poet-fictionist who has lived in Carmel for some time, has produced a book of short stories that brings praise from Joseph Henry Jackson, literary editor of the Sunday Chronicle.

"The Ways of White Folks," published by Alfred A. Knopf, of New York, is termed by him as combining "technically excellent pieces of work, all of them, and they are important chiefly for the fact that in each the author presents this relationship entirely from the Negro point of view.

"Mr. Hughes, knowing his people, has been carefully objective in here putting them forward under, so to say, their own steam. If you want to know just how the ways of white folks appear in many cases to those who are not white folks, this collection of stories will show you."

Among stories particularly spoken of by Jackson are "Core Unashamed," "One Christmas Eve," and "The Blues I'm Playing."

In concluding, Jackson comments, "However, you are sure to have your own selections when you read the book, nothing is so much a matter of taste as choice in short stories, especially when you have a singularly high-level, evenly good group to choose from."

That night on his radio program called "Reader's Guide," he aired much of the same praise.

CONDUCTOR OF KANSAS CITY ORCHESTRA HERE

Carmel music will have an important addition in the presence of Karl Krueger, vacationing here with his family in a house on North Carmelo. He is conductor of the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra, and previouly had developed the Seattle Symphony Orchestra, where his concerts for young people proved a strong influence in turning thought toward the finer phases of music.

Assisting artists for his November to February concerts in Kansas City will be Ossip Gabrilowitsch, pianist; Lotte Lehmann, dramatic Soprano; Nathan Milstein, violinist; Dalies Frantz, pianist; Marion Talley, soprano, Philipp Abbas, cellist: Brown Schenheit, flutist, Fred S. Jost, clarinetist; and Savino F. Rendina, pianist.

Krueger recently left for Chicago for a short trip, and upon return will probably remain nere for several months.

ROBERT A. DOOLITTLE'S hobby is making ship models, and he has just completed after three years off-and-on labor one of the finest models it has been the privilege of experts to see. She's the "W. H. Dimond," and was made on the commission of Charles R. Crane, the plumbing magnate, in memory of his boyhood days when he was aboard her in the Pacific sugar trade.

Measuring 54 inches from tip of jib boom to end of spanker boom, and standing three feet high, she is to the most microscopic detail a replica of the barkentine of 390 tons that was built by Matthew Turner, and was launched January 5, 1881, in Benicia, Caliofrnia. She was lost February 3, 1914 on Bird Island, of the Shumagin Group, in southwestern Alaska.

Doolittle, who is a slightly built but rugged young man with ever so little of a sailor's roll in his gait—he was in sail for a number of years, and then went navy during the war—has been in Carmel seven years, and his workshop is the large room above his garage on Carmelo near 3rd. Walls are alive with pictures and blueprints of ships, and tables and benches are littered with tools, materials, tins of odds and ends dear to a model maker's heart and ready to be transformed at his touch from meaningless bits into minute replicas of seagoing fixtures.

"I just drifted into model-making," he said in voice which, if raised, could carry aganst a storm. "Anybody who loves the sea can feel that way about making models. Of course the biggest problem in making an absolutely accurate model is the gathering of data. Pictures of the ship, other models, actual plans of her, talks with men—especially captains—who've been aboard her, and old newspapers are main sources of this data. Right here in Carmel, Louis Slevin has an excellent collection of photographs of early sailing vessels."

Practically everything on the "W. H. Dimond" is hand-made. Very little mechanically produced material would suit the exacting demands of so faithful a worker as Doolittle, although other hands might come near to this as exemplified by the English-made studlink anchor chain, each link 1-8 inch long. The eternal problem of fitting and refitting is a human job that no machine can duplicate.

In some cases metal cannot be used to represent real metal aboard shp, as for instance in the use of silvered fishline for cable; wire would sag or kink, while the fishline gives just enough to stay taut. Shortcuts there may be, but in the main the work is simply patient plodding with an exacting eye ever on the job and an artistic zeal ever burning.

"One tough job," he went on, pointing to the masts, "was rattling down, which means putting up ratlines from sheerpole to crosstrees." To the landsmen this means putting up the ladder-like cables and cross rungs that go from the side of the hull to the mast crosstrees, and could hardly be called a child's job.

Care of models will make them good for many decades. An even temperature, without direct sunlight, and extreme care in handling when they get old, will be necessary; removing from museums to photograph them has been known to ruin many a model.

The eternal mystery of tiny models inside glass bottles was solved when Doolittle explained that the body with masts laid down is inserted through the neck of the bottle and then strings pull the masts up into place. "No," said he, with a grin, "the bottle is not blown around the ship as so many people think."

The model at hand, standing spick and span on its polished wooden base, bearing metal nameplate describing it, its future owner and its maker, will soon be encased in a specially constructed traveling suit of heavy wood, designed so that nothing can be piled on it, nor can it be laid on its side nor carried upside down. It is a royalty among models, and is going to have a place of honor in Crane's summer home at Wood's Home, Massachusetts.

BARBECUE AND BOUTS INDIAN VILLAGE SUNDAY

by Tom Thienes

On Sunday, July 8, at 1:00 p. m. a Barbecue will be held at Indian Village, Pebble Beach, for the benefit of the Serra Fiesta Fund. A variety of entertainment will be provided, includng four 3-round boxing bouts staged by Jack Dalton, in which will participate Bobby Dalton, AAAU state featherweight champion and other contenders well-known to fistiana.

Many local and visiting celebrities already have purchased tickets to this outing, and it would therefore not be surprising were the program extended to include a number of impromptu attarctions.

The generosity of Del Monte Properties and several ranchers, Miss Anita Doud and Tom Riley, and the gratuitous services of numerous Montereey Peninsula citizens, have made it possible to provide this feast of food, fun and fisticuffs at a charge of only $1.00 per person, children under twelve years at half price. No extra charge at Seventeen Mile Drive toll gates.

Tickets now on sale at Stanford Drug Store, Carmel; Palace Drug Store, Monterey; Fortier's Drug Store, Pacific Grove; and (Sunday afternoon) at ony of the three toll gates of the famed Seventeen Mile Drive.

Barkle Seeks School Superintendent Job

T. J. Barkle of Pacific Grove, a resident of Monterey County since 1918, today announced his candidacy for the office of County Superintendent of Schools subject to the will of the voters at the August primary.

Mr. Barkle has long been interested in the public school system and is qualified by training and temperament to give a high type of service if elected to the important educational post.

He is a graduate of Northwestern University and has studied at Cambridge University, the University of Edinburgh, and Mansfield College, Oxford University.

Widespread support for Mr. Barkle's candidacy has developed since it first became known several weeks ago that he was being urged to enter the race.

If elected Mr. Barkle pledges himself to a careful and economic administration of the duties of the office. While convinced that schools of the county are efficiently operated by local boards and principals. Mr. Barkle is convinced that overheard expense of the county superintendent's office should be reduced to effect a saving to taxpayers.

"I am certain the money can be saved in the superintendent's office without injuring efficiency of the school system in the least," Mr. Barkle said.

A native of Wales, Mr. Barkle has traveled widely. For two years he made his home in South Africa, before coming to America. His father, William Barkle, was an American citizen. Mr. Barkie traveled extensively in Europe during his student days.

He is the father of four children, one of whom, Miss Miriam Barkle, is a teacher at the Del Monte School, East Monterey. Two of the children, Richard and Patricia, are students at the Pacific Grove Grammar School.

Mr. Barkle came to the peninsula as pastor of the Monterey Presbyterian Church. The strain of wartime educational work at the Presidio of Monterey endangered his health and he was forced to retire for a time from active ministerial work. Since then he has served as supply pastor for various peninsula churches and for churches in nearby communities as well.

Mr. Barkle is widely known and esteemed for his varied efforts toward community betterment.

Time Lost is Money Lost

It costs money to be sick. You see it directly if your pay envelope is short. You loose out on some important work if you live on a farm or if you are one of the few who are not docked for lost time. You can't afford to show up on the job unless you are feeling fit. The boss wants results—not excuses.

How many times do Gas on Stomach, Headache, Sour Stomach, "That Tired Feeling," That "Morning After" Feeling, Neuralgia, Rheumatic, Sciatic, Muscular or Periodic Pains keep you at home or interfere with your doing a full day's work?

All these troubles are caused or made worse by too much acid in your body. To correct this condition take

ALKA-SELTZER

The New Pain Relieving, Alkalizing, Effervescent Tablet.

It is called Alka-Seltzer because it makes a sparkling alkaline drink, and as it contains an analgesic (Acetyl-Salicylate) it first relieves the pain of everyday ailments and then by restoring the alkaline balance corrects the cause when due to excess acid. Alka-Seltzer is pleasant to take, harmless, non-laxative.

Why don't you try it? Get a drink at your drug store soda fountain for a nickel. Buy a package for home use.

NOTICE OF BOARD OF EQUALIZATION MEETINGS

Notice is hereby given that the Assessor of the County of Monterey, State of California, has this day delivered to me, as Clerk of the Board of Supervisors of said County, the assessment rolls of the years 1934-1935, and that said Board of Supervisors will meet as a board of equalization, to equalize assessments, on the following dates, to-wit: July 2, 6, 9, 10 and 13, 1934, at ten o'clock A. M., and that such meetings will be held at the chambers of said Board of Supervisors, at the Courthouse, in Salinas, Monterey County, California.

Dated: July 2, 1934.

C. F. JOY, Clerk of said Board of Supervisors.

It's just too bad about Congress. The poor boys only get paid with a suitcase of banknotes every brief year of their office and they have to put up with the hard-ships of expensive hotels and posing for newsreels, to say nothing of happy arguing by the hour with almost total strangers.

America is still the world's champion buyer of anything and everything, the bigger, the better.

Our latest complete purchase appears to be the biggest, bloodiest war that the weary old world ever knew.

Two veteran Carmelites met on the street with much handclasping, and fell to talking of the town's doings of late. The conversation suddenly became foggy with uncertainties, even though each yearned for the latest news, and finally one said, "You don't seem to be in touch with things any more, old man. I'm just back from around the world and want the latest happenings."

"Oh, yeah!" was the retort. "You would pick on me, when I'm just home from six months in China."

The blonde five-year-old's father was setting a particularly thumb-pinching gopher trap, and his mutters rose to outcry when the trap snapped at him like a tropical barracuda. The young helper, aided in her observations by Tippy, bright of eye and wagging of tail, could stand it no longer.

Why don't you make a bee trap instead , d a d d y?" she lisped through the missing two lower teeth.

"Bee—trap?" asked the parent, eyeing his daughter stonily, but unable to resist so novel a thought, carnivorous gopher trap notwithstanding.

"Uh-huh. You see, you just get some honey and the bee comes to it, and then Tippy puts his paw on it, or just opens his mouth up wide."

"But doesn't the bee bite Tippy?"

"Oh, no. Tippy bites the bee!"

The elders were frowning about the display of legs of both sexes on the beach, and one of them said that it was so nowadays that you wouldn't know one leg from another.

!'Huh!" said a young relative, looking up from his electric train, "I bet I'd know a leg of lamb!"

PINE CONE COVER A BOON TO THE LOST AND STRAYED

Seldom has a cover of the Pine Cone created so much comment as that of last week when a map of the town was used. What paper before has used the map of its own village for a first page? True, a certain magazine prints the calendar on its face every New Year's, and another prints the index of the goodies within, and still another is as blank as its contents, but it remained for the Pine Cone to lead the way. To lead the way anywhere in town by just following the map.

Find out where you are on the darkest night by carrying a Pine Cone in your pocket. The street signs may be knocked over, or may be ashes in the nearest tourist's fireplace, but the Monarch of the Weeklies carries you on unfalteringly. Public service to the nth degree!

CALISTA ROGERS TO BE HEARD HERE IN RECITAL

The programs which Calista Rogers has planned for her three recitals at the Denny-Watrous Gallery will constitute a short survey of song literature, showing its development from some of the earliest known examples to the German Lied, and the modern developments from that.

On July 13th the program will begin with French troubadour songs from the 12th and 13th centuries and Spanish ballads of the 16th century. There will be Elizabethan lute songs from one of the richest periods in the history of English music, Italian songs from the 17th and 18th centuries and songs of Mozart and Bach.

The second program on July 27th will be devoted to the finest examples of song we have—the German Lieder and Miss Rogers has chosen for the most part of the less known songs of Schubert, Schumann, Wolf and Brahms.

On August 10th there will be a group of Debussy songs and some of the very modern works of Schonberg and Hindesmith, as well as a group of interesting songs by contemporary American composers such as Charles Ives and Ray Green. This program will also include a modern Spanish group. In these recitals Ralph Linsley will be at the piano.
